Positive, Empathetic Drugs Education and Prevention

Are your students safe? Are they vaping or using other drugs?

Need empathetic education delivered by an Addictions Professional?

Need expert advice for yourself, a colleague, a family member...?

Did you know?

NHS England reports that:

- 12% of pupils have tried smoking
- 1 in 5 15-year-old girls are current e-cigarette users
- 40% of pupils have tried alcohol
- 6% of all pupils drink at least once a week
- 18% of pupils have taken drugs

There has never been a more important time to talk about drug awareness and harm reduction. The international landscape is having a direct impact on the drugs available within our communities and the prevalence of synthetic drugs needs to be taken seriously. Education is prevention.

Jason Kew is an experienced Addiction Professional, passionate about drug awareness, harm reduction and prevention.

Education Sessions

Our educational (in-person or online facilitated) sessions offer a safe space for students to ask questions without fear of stigma or judgement.

This open dialogue is crucial for reducing drug use and promoting safety. By educating students, we empower them to make informed decisions that positively impact their lives and futures

Our educational programmes cover:

- Substances: Alcohol, nicotine (vaping), cannabis, nitrous oxide, ketamine, MDMA (synthetics), cocaine, LSD, and mushrooms.
- Harms of Mixing Drugs: Special emphasis on the dangers of combining drugs, including alcohol with prescribed medications like antidepressants and other substances.
- Dependency and Addiction: Understanding the risks and recognising the signs.

Booking Jason is Easy:

- 1. Visit our Website: Head to jasonkew.com to discover our full range of services and learn more about our approach.
- 2. Contact Us: Use our simple online form to get in touch. Share your requirements and we'll work with you to create a customised plan.
- 3. Schedule Your Session: Our team will coordinate with you to find the best dates and times for your sessions or consultations.
